About the role

As a Customer Service Advisor at Certsure, your role is pivotal in ensuring exceptional service for our customers.

You'll handle inquiries professionally and effectively, responding to incoming telephone calls and inquiries according to established procedures and standards. Your goal? To resolve general inquiries in a single call whenever possible. When needed, you'll forward relevant information to internal departments to address specific change requests or inquiries.

But it's not just about handling calls. You'll actively engage with our customers, seeking feedback and ratings to drive continuous business improvements. Proactively reaching out to registered customers ensures we're supporting their business needs and identifying potential issues. And when feedback comes in through electronic surveys, you'll react promptly.

Performance matters. You'll deliver on team and individual Key Performance Indicators (KPIs). When sensitive or urgent matters arise, you'll escalate them to the appropriate internal department or Team Leader. And as you handle inquiries, you'll add detailed notes to customers' application and registration electronic files.

Emails? You've got those covered too. Responding appropriately to messages received within the general customer service email inbox—whether using standard text or forwarding them to the relevant internal team—is part of your daily routine.

You'll ensure effective and accurate responses within appropriate timeframes, maintaining a positive customer experience.

Staying informed is essential. Proactively keeping up to date with relevant information ensures you can advise and respond effectively to all customers.

You'll provide support and cover to administration team colleagues and other internal departments as needed.

Collating and distributing marketing literature—like those handy Pocket Guides—helps keep our customers informed.

And of course, compliance matters. You'll adhere to the Data Protection Act (GDPR) while handling customer data.

Lastly, flexibility is key. When other general team and administrative tasks arise, you'll tackle them as directed by the Manager or Team Leader.

Join our team and contribute to Certsure's commitment to excellence!
